Background
Altus was founded in 2005 with a mission to speed up financial services with superior technology. Altus supplies specialist consultancy services and market-leading automation software to the UK financial services industry. With a background in real-time, embedded systems, they knew just how powerful software could be if it was built on open standards and carefully targeted.

The Problem
Understanding that information security is key to both business operations and their customers, Altus sought a solution that would help prevent possiblesecurity threats and keep their organisation safe.

The Solution
Hut Six's interactive and engaging cybersecurity awareness training, phishing simulator and learning management system.

Altus

"Hut Six has been a complete success; it's far more effective and engaging than in-house training could ever be."

As a trusted brand providing FinTech solutions, Altus knows that information and cyber security training is an essential for protecting themselves and their clients from increasingly sophisticated, but avoidable threats.

Wanting to build upon their current in-house training offering, Altus sought an effective information security awareness training solution that would not only help ensure their employees did not fall victim to potential threats, but also help instil a secure culture mindset.

"The content is excellent, represents fantastic value for money, and the dashboard to monitor staff progress is great. "

With great feedback from an engaged staff, Altus is now able to protect their information more effectively, as well as demonstrate a commitment to robust information security, to both existing and prospective clients.

"Above all, it was the ability to deliver training as part of a continual fortnightly feed so that security is always in the minds of our employees."
